Judicial Elections

Clearinghouse Elections Notice

Issue #15-02

December 16, 2015

All judicial elections are conducted as nonpartisan elections under the Top 2 Primary laws. However, there are exceptions that apply to several judicial offices. This updated Clearinghouse (with chart) replaces Issue #13-01.

Candidate Qualifications

Judicial candidates must be registered voters in the jurisdiction of the office when filing a declaration of candidacy. (RCW 29A.24.075)

Exceptions:

- A candidate for superior court judge needs to be a registered voter in Washington State. The candidate is not required to be a resident in the county of that court. (Art. IV, Sec. 17, State Constitution)
- A candidate for municipal court judge must be a registered voter within the county. However, the candidate is not required to be a resident in the city of that court. (RCW 3.50.055)

Printed on the Ballot

Most judicial elections are scheduled for even-numbered years and treated the same as other nonpartisan offices. (RCW 29A.52.220)

Exceptions:

- An uncontested superior court race in a county with a population of 100,000 or more is not printed on the ballot. Instead, the filing officer issues a certificate of election following the last day for candidates to withdraw. This applies only when the office has a single candidate and each county within the jurisdiction exceeds the 100,000 population threshold. (Article IV Section 29 of the Washington State Constitution)

- Elections to fill vacancies for judicial offices (other than district and municipal courts) may occur in odd or even-numbered years.
- Elections to fill vacancies for district court positions occur in even-numbered years only. (AGLO 1973 No. 76)
- An elected municipal court office is on the ballot in odd-numbered years only. A vacancy is filled by appointment for the remainder of the term. (RCW 3.50.050, RCW 3.50.093)

Judicial Chart

The chart attached to this Clearinghouse, Judicial Elections in Washington State, explains the framework for judicial elections.
