

Washington Archives Month October 2017

STRANGE WASHINGTON

Flying saucers, Sasquatch, and other oddities in the Evergreen State's archives

Left to Right: Joshua Dimer and son, ca 1903. Odessa Historisches Museum, Odessa Public Library & Washington Rural Heritage; Young women with Van de Graaff generator, ca 1930s. Photograph by Mary Miles, Parish Photograph Collection, Washington State Archives; Woman with The Skarman by sculptor James Lee Hansen, Olympia, 1972. WSDOT Photograph Collection, Washington State Archives.

Left to Right: Aar's Dancing Clam in UDistric1 Seafair Parade, 2002. Fleet & Facilities Department, Seattle Municipal Archives; Women atop slabs of bacon creating world's largest omelet, Chehalis, 1951. University of Washington Libraries; Nessies at Scottish Highland Games, 2016. Washington State Archives; Dance performers, Bellingham State Normal School, ca 1927. Western Washington University.

Left to Right: William Greenwood, his cat, and his Ark, Olympia, 1938. Photograph by Vibert Jeffes, Parish Photograph Collection, Washington State Archives; Monkey Brigade on bicycles, Vancouver, ca 1940. Vancouver Parks Department Photograph, Washington State Archives; Toe truck in West Seattle Seafair Parade, 2001. Fleet & Facilities Department, Seattle Municipal Archives.

Sponsored by the Washington State Historical Records Advisory Board, the Washington State Archives and the Office of the Secretary of State.

